They're back . . .

Both area lakes, Lake Cumberland to the north and Dale Hollow to the south, reported an influx of boats and water enthusiasts over the weekend with the arrival of the Memorial Day holiday which traditionally marks the beginning of the summer tourism season. Clinton County residents are reminded that roadways and both bodies of water will see an increased level of traffic throughout the summer months until Labor Day in September. The above photo was made Sunday afternoon on Dale Hollow lake at the popular gathering spot near the Clinton County and Pickett County line at Shear Pin Pass.

Two-night event will see 105 earn diplomas

The 2015 Clinton County High School graduation ceremonies will revert back to "old school" in a way this week, as two nights of graduation related ceremonies will return.

To cut down on the lengthy time it takes to complete all of the award presentations, program events and actual awarding of diplomas in one night, the graduation program will begin on Thursday, May 28 at 7 p.m. at the Clinton County High School gymnasium with what is being billed as "Awards Night" at CCHS.

The 98th Commencement program, in which graduates will actually complete their high school education, will be held Friday, May 29 beginning at 7 p.m. at the CCHS gym.

Best of the best: four seniors earn top honors

Every year, Clinton County High School honors the hard work of three individuals who have sacrificed a lot for their school work. This year, CCHS will honor four.

In what came down to a tie in the Valedictorian spot, CCHS Principal Sheldon Harland said he ran final grades to six decimal points and there was still no separation in the grade point average between the top two graduates.

This year, earning the top four spots are Brett Shepherd, Taylor Albertson, Brooke Wright and Lance Claywell.

Shepard and Albertson tied for the top spot, which earned

Court rejects transient fee, narrowly approves budget

Clinton County Fiscal Court narrowly approved first reading of the 2015-16 fiscal year budget, narrowly approved paying claims and bills and have apparently rejected the idea of a transient tax ordinance without a vote actually being taken. Those were some of the items of business taken up during the court's regular meeting last Thursday evening, May 21 with all court members present.

Clinton County Judge/Executive Richard Armstrong opened the meeting by asking those present to remember Magistrate Johnny Russell and a family member of Magistrate Ricky Craig in prayers due to illness those individuals are going through.

When regular business began, the court approved the monthly treasurer's report and fund transfers, but on the paying of claims and bills, there was a split vote. Some magistrates apparently objected to a few of the bills included which pertained to work on a county maintenance building being constructed, apparently feeling those bills shouldn't be paid until the building is complete and comes under the $20,000 amount in which a county has to advertise if it goes over. Also, Magistrate Ricky Craig abstained on one item of the claims, which pertained to a family member.

When a motion was made to pay the claims and bills, Magistrates Russell, Her-

Residents warned of latest telephone scam efforts making the rounds

The Clinton County Sheriff's Department and other local and area authorities are continuing to warn residents about different types of phone scams that have been reported in the region in the past several weeks.

Perhaps the most frequently reported scam involves people claiming to be from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), which has prompted that agency to offer taxpayers tips to protect themselves from scam artists who call pretending to be with the IRS.

These callers may demand money or may say you have a refund due and try to trick you into sharing private information. These con artists sound convincing when they call. They may know a lot about you, and they usually alter the caller ID to make it look like the IRS is actually calling. They use fake names and bogus IRS identification badge numbers. If you don't answer, they often leave an "urgent" call back request.

"These telephone scams are being seen in every part of the country, and we urge people not to be deceived by these threatening phone calls," IRS Commissioner John Koskinen said. "We have formal processes in place for people with tax issues. The IRS respects taxpayer rights, and these angry shake-down calls are not how we do business."

The IRS reminds people that they can know pretty easily when a supposed IRS caller is a fake. Here are five things the scammers often do but the IRS will not do. Any one of these five things is a tell-tale sign of a

Although summer officially is still a few weeks away, work at Clinton County High School has already focused on the fall football season. Bulldog Field is undergoing some much needed maintenance work to repair a concave that had developed in the center section of the surface and would hold water. Topsoil is being placed on the field and will be coned to eliminate the problem and should be completed in plenty of time for the start of the 2015 gridiron season.

Dr. Nathan McWhorter, formerly of Albany and currently stationed in Germany, spoke about his faith in Christianity to Nepalese villagers during the recent mission to Nepal.

Mission trip to Nepal completed

Keith McWhorter, Project Coordinator

The Nepal mission was conducted from March 10-22, 2015. 16 Americans from Florida, Texas, Tennessee, Ohio, New Jersey and Kentucky participated.

Six were on their first overseas mission. This was a LifeWay sponsored project primarily staffed by LifeWay employees and retirees.

We also had three missionaries from Nepal that joined us to share the gospel in the capital city of Kathmandu and out in the countryside in Hetauda and Simara near the Indian border.

We partnered with 32 churches. There were 279 individuals who indicated they prayed to accept Jesus as Savior. Four rededicated their lives to Christ. We counted 2,621 souls who heard the gospel. We had the privilege of distributing 1,500 full Bibles provided by LifeWay.

One of our goals was to mentor evangelism and we trained several Nepalese to use the EvangelizeCube and left about 35 for them to continue the mission of witnessing upon our departure.

The area of ministry was described as "hard ground." We found that to be so. We were asked not to come into one of the villages because the Hindu priest had asked villagers not to receive us. In other areas, people would listen very attentively but then not respond to the invitation to accept Jesus.

Fear of being ostracized from the family and/or the village was a major stumbling block. In spite of these barriers, God opened doors and we were able to share in village centers, homes and schools.

We shared with farmers, laborers, students, political leaders, teachers and religious leaders in spite of a government mandate not to do so.

The Baptist leaders in all three geographic areas did a good job of preparing for our coming. They had visits/meetings scheduled for us each day so as to make our time quite productive.

LifeWay staff conducted a Bible Seminar for pastors with over 50 in attendance. Topics covered were: Structure of the Bible, Content of the Bible, Life of Jesus, Bible Study Hints and 12 Essential Beliefs for Christians.

Ross M. of Tennessee stopped at a Hindu shrine. Pastor Rupesh brought the Hindu priest to Ross. Ross witnessed to him, asked him if he would confess Jesus as Lord. He said yes and prayed and made a profession of faith. Perhaps this man will be like the Ethiopian eunuch in the book of Acts and spread the good news among his people.

Anna D. of Ohio was waiting for the other team members when a "divine appointment" became available. Anna shared with a man standing nearby. The taxi driver came to listen, then two girls, then another man. All heard the good news and all prayed to accept Christ including the taxi driver. God provides many such "divine appointments" on the mission field!

Brandon T. of Tennessee shared the gospel with a store owner in Kathmandu. The pastor had been sharing the good news with this man for 10 years without response. After sharing, the man placed his faith in Christ. "I was able to witness this man go from death to life, truly was a joy I can hardly express with words."

As we go on mission in various countries we have the experience Brandon had many times. Local pastors and church members may have witnessed for many years, but God uses our presence, having traveled great distances to be on the mission field, to show the love of Christ allowing us to participate in the harvest!

Nathan McWhorter, Albany, KY, currently stationed in Germany, was amazed at how God moved in spite of barking dogs, crying babies, buses unloading passengers and other distractions. His team saw over 150 indicate they prayed to accept Christ in the midst of all the noise and confusion. God is greater than all the obstacles the world presents.

Please continue to be in prayer for the people of Nepal. This is a beautiful country but very impoverished. Tourism is a huge part of their economy. With the earthquakes that have devastated large areas of the country, tourism has declined significantly. God gave us a window of opportunity to share the good news before the great earthquakes. Our group left the country five weeks before the first quake.

Please pray about joining us in Lithuania, October 8-19, 2015. God has great plans for that mission!

UK soybean hull research gives options to Kentucky cattle farmers

By Katie Pratt

Kentucky cattle farmers have reaped the benefits of research conducted over the past 20 years at the University of Kentucky Agriculture, Food and Environment.

That research, conducted by Roy Burris, UK extension beef specialist, showed that producers could safely feed soy hulls to their cattle without losing any feed value. Soy hulls are the seed coats of soybeans and a by-product of soybean meal and soybean oil production.

Burris began his research in 1996 after discovering that all soy hulls were sent overseas. The hulls contained highly digestible fiber for cattle. Burris thought they could work well as a supplement with cattle, especially those already on a high-fiber, pasture-based diet, compared to supplementing their diets with corn, which contains high amounts of starch.

"Our feeding trials showed that soy hulls could replace corn on a pound-per-pound basis, especially with cattle on forage-based diets," said Burris, who is based at the UK Research and Education Center in Princeton. "This was because we weren't shifting those rumen bacteria that aid in digestion of fiber to those that digest starches."

In the feeding trials, the cattle liked and readily consumed the soy hulls without any acidosis or founder.

The results of the research were very popular with Kentucky beef cattle farmers, who readily accepted them.

"It's a by-product that really became a co-product and added value to the soybean crop," Burris said.

Kentucky producers now use all of the soy hulls produced by the state's soybean farmers, which is around 120,000 tons of soy hulls each year. The success of feeding soy hulls has also led to the expansion of feeding other by-products to cattle including corn screenings, wheat screenings, distillers dried grains and cotton seed hulls. It also keeps the cattle from competing with humans for food.

The Albany Post Office effort with Stamp Out Hunger on May 9 resulted in over 1000 pounds of food being collected in the annual food drive that is part of a national promotion held by the USPS. The food collected here was donated to the local Days of Grace Food Pantry, where it will be distributed to deserving local residents. Above, Days of Grace Food Pantry official Sherry Lynn Owens, left, and Albany Post Office Clerk Anna Ruth Norris, are shown with the crates of food that was collected by the letter carriers.

WAYNE CO. OUTLOOK Monticello

Wayne County Fiscal Court will look at purchasing the building where the recycling center is now located. During a meeting on Thursday, May 14, court members authorized County Judge/Executive Mike Anderson to obtain an appraisal of the property as the first step in the purchase process.

The recycling center is located on Creekview Drive in a building that is rented by the county.

The cost to remain at that location is $800 a month.

Purchasing the facility would make much better use of that money, magistrates indicated during last week's meeting.

Other details of the purchase will come back to fiscal court before any other action is taken.

Magistrates took care of a couple of other business matters related to that department during the meeting. They approved hiring Steve Gregory as a full-time employee at the recycling center. They also approved hiring a temporary employee at the recycling center as needed.

OVERTON CO. NEWS Livingston, TN

An agreement has been reached as a permanent solution to keep Dale Hollow National Fish Hatchery in Celina, and Erwin National Fish Hatchery in Erwin open beyond 2016.

U.S. Senator Lamar Alexander (R-TN) joined Bill Johnson, president and CEO of Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), Ed Carter, executive director of Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency (TWRA), Mike Oetker, deputy regional director for the Southeast Region of U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) and Jeff Durniak with the Georgia Department of Natural Resources (DNR) on Monday, May 11 to announce the agreement.

"Nearly 90,000 Tennesseans and visitors buy fishing and hunting licenses each year," Sen. Alexander said. "This means that the federal fish hatcheries in Erwin, Dale Hollow, and Georgia will continue to provide each year to Tennessee rivers and lakes the more than one million fish that make our trout fishing some of the best in the country."

"TVA will support the hatcheries in the same way that the Army Corps of Engineers does when it replaces fish killed by dams on the Cumberland River and in the same way the Bonnieville Power Administration supports replacing fish in the Columbia and Snake Rivers."

Alexander continued, "Last Wednesday, I met with Fish and Wildlife Director Dan Ashe, who said that TVA's support makes possible a permanent solution to keep the hatcheries open. This is also good news for the businesses that create jobs and depend on fishing in Tennessee."

Carter added, "Insuring the continuation of trout hatchery operations supplying our streams and tailwaters is very comforting to me. I'm elated that, with this agreement, the economic benefits to all Tennesseans and the fantastic angling opportunities these vital fisheries provide will continue."

In 2013, Sen. Alexander worked to help reach a three-year agreement to keep Erwin National Fish Hatchery and Dale Hollow National Fish Hatchery open while TVA, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and federal and state wildlife agencies formed a working group to come up with a permanent solution.

The agreement with TVA, also supports Chattahoochee National Fish Hatchery in Suches, Georgia.

Overton County Sheriff's Department said it made a DUI arrest on Union B Road in Muddy Pond Monday, April 27 that may lead to more charges.

According to a press release from OCSD, Deputy Chris Peters and Sgt. Stephen Castle were dispatched to the location at 4:05 a.m. in regards to a caller's report of a suspicious vehicle in the area. Peters then reportedly made contact with the driver, who was identified as Joshua L. Horn, 32, of Cookeville.

The release said that while Peters was speaking with Horn, Horn "appeared to be intoxicated." Horn was placed under arrest for driving under the influence after evaluation of his condition, the release said.

OCSD alleged Horn was also in possession of approximately 3.5 grams of a substance the deputies believe to be methamphetamine and approximately 1.48 ounces of a substance the deputies believed to be marijuana. In addition, OCSD said the deputies seized Horn's vehicle, a .22 caliber pistol and an undisclosed sum of cash.

Horn was booked into Overton County Jail and released the same day on $15,000 bond, according to jail staff. The press release said the substances were sent to Tennessee Bureau of Investigation for examination. Pending the results of TBI's determination, the release said Horn's case will later be presented to the Overton County Grand Jury.

OCSD encouraged all citizens of the community to call in any suspicious activity at (931) 823-5635.

A man reportedly entered the Twice Daily convenience store on East Main Street in Livingston early Tuesday morning, May 19 and robbed the business at gunpoint, according to logs from 911 dispatch.

The logs said the initial call came in at 12:56 a.m. Tuesday, with the original dispatch remarks saying a male subject in a gray hoodie had entered Twice Daily's and robbed it at gunpoint before leaving toward Save-A-Lot.

By 1:01 a.m., Livingston Police Chief Greg Etheredge had told dispatch to advise those in the store to go inside, lock the door, and let no one inside.

According to Twice Daily Store manager James Welch, there were two clerks on duty at the time, Vicci Hall and Josh Allen. Welch said the suspect made off with approximately $233 from the register.

At 1:14 a.m., dispatch logs noted the suspect was carrying a six-shot .22 revolver and had a blue bandana on his face. With Livingston Police Department and Overton County Sheriff's Department heavily involved in the search for the suspect by that time, the logs said officers had two in custody at 1:18 a.m. An hour and 10 minutes later, LPD Officer Christopher Billings reported he had pursued a third suspect who had barricaded himself in a house on Hilltop Drive.

Welch said only one man entered the store during the robbery. He said the man fired one shot, which went into the front wall of the store. He said neither of the clerks on duty, nor two guests who were in the store at the time were hurt. Investigators reportedly plan to remove a piece of the wall where the bullet entered, so that it may be recovered.

At press time, no arrest reports were available from authorities, and no warrants were on file.

TIMES JOURNAL Russell Springs

School board member Gerald Murray said that he had gotten several calls regarding "allegations of inappropriate actions going on at the school and teachers being put on leave" at the Monday night, May 18 monthly board meeting at Jamestown Elementary.

Murray said that those calling wondered why it was not addressed at the last school board meeting and said that Russell Springs Police Chief Joe Michael Irvin told him the department was "still doing an investigation."

Superintendent Michael Ford said the cases were personnel matters that weren't currently for public knowledge.

At the May meeting of Russell Springs City Council Thursday, May 14, Mayor Eric Selby asked Zoning Administrator Jeremy Coffey to provide the results of a recent zoning board meeting to have a property reclassified.

Coffey said that on April 1, Cumberland Family Medical had submitted a zone change request for the Loy property to the local zoning board. A public hearing was held on April 23 to consider changing the classification of the property from R1 to SP (Special Purposes).

The property, on 363 Dowell Rd., is located adjacent to the property that Cumberland Family Medical is constructing a structure.

Coffey said the board meeting was well attended and passed the zoning board with a vote of 4-0. The special purposes classification allows for the property to be used for doctor's offices, hospital or usages of that nature.

The city council voted to reclassify the property from R1 to SP.

A Russell Springs man was arrested early Saturday morning, May 16 by Deputy Sheriff Evan Burton on charges of illegally selling and illegal possession of alcohol in a dry territory.

Jose' Manuel, 27, was arrested at 2:20 a.m. at his residence on Kamden Drive off KY 619 East.

The investigation resulted in the seizure of a large amount of alcoholic beverages.

The search of Manuel's residence resulted in the confiscation of 1,096 cans/bottles of beer, 11 bottles of whiskey, seven bottles of vodka, three bottles of Tequila, one bottle of wine and one bottle of champagne.

Manuel was processed and lodged in Russell County Detention Center.

THE HERALD CITIZEN Cookeville, TN

The body of a Jackson County man who reportedly jumped from a bridge over the Cumberland River last month was found Tuesday, May 19.

Jackson County Rescue Squad officials say recovery efforts--with assistance from many local and area agencies--had been ongoing for 32 days since Kit Johnson allegedly jumped from the Jennings Creek Highway bridge near Jackson County High and middle schools.

A local fisherman discovered Johnson's body around 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, May 19 in the Holleman's Bend and Marina's Creek area near Granville and reported the discovery to local emergency services authorities.

"Mr. Johnson went into the Cumberland River at river marker 358, and his body was discovered at marker 334. He was found approximately 24 miles from the location where he first went into the water," said Jackson County 911 Director Mickey Smith.

The Cumberland River spans 39 miles through Jackson County, from Clay County on one side to Smith County on the other, Smith said.

At an average of 50 feet an average width of 200 yards, it has been calculated that personnel from the Jackson County emergency service agencies and others that responded to the effort had approximately 1.14 million cubic miles of waterway to search.

The location where emergency services recovered Johnson's body was near Smith County.

Personnel from all Jackson County emergency service agencies have participated in the month-long recovery efforts, and they have been assisted in virtually all surrounding counties, as well as several state agencies.

Smith said he wanted to thank all of the emergency services agencies in Jackson County for their hard work and job well done, as well as the emergency services from nearby locations and state agencies that provided additional help.

"We appreciate the service that all of these agencies have provided throughout this recovery effort," he said.

A 32-year-old man from Silver Point has been arrested for stabbing a Tennessee Tech University student who reportedly discovered the man attempting to break in and steal items from his car early Tuesday morning, May 19.

According to Lt. Carl Sells, an investigator with the Cookeville Police Department, the TTU student had arrived at Cookeville Regional Medical Center sometime around 2:30 a.m. and reported having been stabbed in the side.

"As the investigation began, the victim told officers that he had been standing outside a building on 7th Street and Peachtree when he heard a glass breaking," Lt. Sells said.

Upon hearing that sound, the student immediately feared it might have been someone breaking the glass of his vehicle.

He went to the location where he had parked his 2004 Volkswagen Jetta and discovered a man inside of it.

According to Michael A. Schipp's burglary warrant, "The student found the defendant (Schipp) had broken in the left front passenger door window and was leaning in the vehicle."

The student, who reported to police that he did not know Schipp, attempted to intervene to prevent the burglary.

An altercation ensued between the two, and that altercation resulted in the student being stabbed in the side by the attempted burglar.

According to Schipp's aggravated assault warrant, that stabbing punctured the student's left lung, and the victim was later transported by ambulance to Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville for treatment of his injuries.

The victim's injuries were described as serious but not life-threatening.

"Based on the description of the suspect provided by the victim and a witness, the suspect was developed.

"That suspect was subsequently located, interviewed at the police department and arrested," Lt. Sells said.

The Cookeville Police Department was investigating similar vehicle burglaries on the same day and were trying to determine if there was a connection between Schipp and other crimes.

Schipp was lodged in jail on a $27,500 bond and was scheduled to appear in Putnam County General Court last Wednesday, May 20.

CUMBERLAND CO. NEWS Burkesville

The City of Burkesville has been receiving calls concerning solicitations from LIPP (Lateral Insurance Protection Program) mailed to local residents recently offering specialty liability insurance coverage in case of a sewer lateral line break. The water district is not connected to this mailing.

The mailings may lead the consumer to believe that they are required to purchase "water line service coverage" when in fact the purchase is optional in nature.

Property owners should contact their insurance companies to see if they are already covered for a lateral damage incident, or if they feel such coverage is warranted. Property owners are urged to read the fine print of the proposed coverage and determine if the long-term costs warrant such coverage.

A local video store clerk has won $1 million from the Tennessee lottery.

Cara Huddleston, 21, won in a different way than most would think. She won by entering a non-winning ticket (scratch-off) into a Play It Again! drawing. These drawings are held approximately every three months. This drawing gave over $1.6 million in cash prizes to 13 players who entered different non-winning tickets online at the "VIP Players Suite."

Huddleston chose to receive the prize in a cash lump sum rather than the annuities amount.

The Class of 2015 will be a larger than average one at Clinton County with some 105 seniors graduating Friday night.

Commencement ceremonies will begin with the procession by the CCHS high school band (the audience is asked to stand as the seniors enter the gymnasium). The presentation of colors will then be presented by the JROTC Senior Color Guard, followed by the invocation by Marika Lowhorn.

Following the musical selection, “Good Old Days” by Derek Dyer and Andrew Sexton, Taylor Albertson will deliver the Valedictory address, followed by a musical selection by Ryan Thomas and a Valedictory address by Brett Shepherd.

CCHS principal Sheldon Harlan will present awards, which will be followed by a slide show by the Class of 2015 entitled, “Pretty Good Place To Be.”

Then will come the moment the over 100 graduates have been waiting for for four years, as Superintendent Charlotte Bernard will award diplomas. That will be followed by the benediction by Makayla Lee and 2015 class officers will perform the tassel ceremony.

Several scholarships have been awarded this year, including nine from businesses, eight from colleges and universities, six memorial scholarships and four organization or individuals, for a total of 27 scholarships awarded to deserving seniors.

* Cords, Sashes and Tassels: The gold tassels and sashes signify seniors who qualify in scholarship character, and leadership in membership in the National Beta Club.

The Purple and White cords signify Career and Technical Education seniors who qualify in student excellence and leadership for membership in the National Technical Honor Society.

The Red, White, and Blue cords signify seniors who have completed course work that exceeds the standard requirements and enables them to receive a Comprehensive Diploma which surpasses the standards set forth in the pre-college curriculum.

* With Honors: Seniors who graduate with honors are those receiving a Comprehensive Diploma, earning a GPA of 3.0 or better, and maintaining an attendance rate of at least ninety percent for the past two school years.

* Faculty's Academic Hood: The velvet/velveteen trim represents a specific degree/discipline. The satin chevron represents the college/university conferring the degree. The lining represents the college/university conferring the degree and the black shell is the traditional color determined by the Intercollegiate Bureau of Academic Regalia.

Some other notes about this year's 2015 Class of 2015:

Class Motto: “Just Keep Swimming”; class flower, Hibiscus; class song, “Don't Blink” (by Kenny Chesney); class colors, turquoise and coral.

Class officers: President, Adrianna Thrasher; Vice-President, Rachel Claborn; Secretary, Ashley Harper; Treasurer, Samuel Rains. Student Council members: Chase Anderson, Lucas Gibson, Haley Matthews, Chance McWhorter and Kristin Smith. Mr. and Miss Senior Class: Alex Beaty and Taylor Guinn. Class sponsors: Jessica Conner, Stacey Evans, Lucas Dalton and Miranda Stockton.

The 2015 graduation program commencement ushers, from the junior class, are: James Beaty, Cori Langford, Erika Rodriguez, Celena Stephens, Mildred Dominguez, Carrie McClellan, Phillip Staley, Katie Beth Williams, Zackary Garmon, Cody Starns, Caleb York.

Congratulations and good luck to all of the 2015 Clinton County High School graduates from everyone at the Clinton County News!

Congratulation's to Dillon Stonecipher them co-valedictorian honors with a projected GPA of 4.175, while Wright finished with a projected GPA of 4.02 and salutatorian honors and Claywell finished with a 4.0 and will be the historian for the Class of 2015.

The projected GPA considers what final grades would be if all four students were to receive an A in their final classes for this semester. Harlan said the grades are not likely to change.

Several years ago policy changed at Clinton County High School and the Historian spot was dedicated to the person with the third highest GPA in each class. In this year's case, it is the fourth spot, but it doesn't tarnish the extreme dedication each one of the top GPA students have put forth during four years of high school.

Each have made their sacrifices and are now looking at their last week of high school before moving on to the next big step of their lives.

In order to maintain the top spot in the class, Shepherd said it has not been difficult maintaining his grades. He said he has done really well in class and pays attention, which is what he tributes to his above average grades.

Claywell said the work wasn't the difficult part, but managing other things, like basketball, as well as school work was difficult.

"Trying to balance keeping my grades up during season was hard," Claywell said. "You are always pushed for time. You get home from a game late at night and you have an assignment due the next morning ... you lose a lot of sleep, but other than that, it hasn't been too difficult."

Studying and working hard through high school is what it takes according to Wright.

"It takes a lot of time in order to study hard and to take time out of your free time to do your homework," Wright said. "I didn't really think I was going to be one of the top students. I always wanted to be in the top and I was surprised I ended up here."

Wright said she is also in the band and staying after school to practice and doing a lot of work during her free time was difficult.

"You have to organize your schedule," Wright said.

Albertson said she has had to take several AP classes she didn't want to take, however, she feels it has given her the chance to be in the position she is in now.

"It's not been that hard ... I am in band, so it was hard trying to keep up with all that stuff also, but it wasn't that bad," Albertson said.

All four of the top spots in the 2015 class have had to juggle not only school work, but extracurricular activities as well.

Shepherd said he plans to attend the University of Kentucky to study engineering. He want to work with his brother and develop software applications as well as web designs and computer situations.

"I'm going to UK in the fall," Albertson said. "As of right now I plan on majoring in chemistry and going into pharmacy. I'm in the pharmacy technician class at the vocational school and I've done some work at Dyer Drug and I'm really interested in it."

Claywell said he plans to attend Somerset Community College for the first two years then transfer to Tennessee Tech.

"I don't have a major picked out yet, so I don't really know what I'm going to go into," Claywell said. "A lot of people know what they are going to do, but me, at 18 years old, I don't really have a clear picture of what I want to do. It's hard to tell right now, but I will figure it out sometime."

Wright said she plans on attending Western Kentucky University in the fall and becoming a psychology major in order to be a school psychologist.

"I was going to go to be a teacher, but then my mom talked me out of it. I really like psychology,"

During the past four years, doing all the work on their own isn't really feasible. Along the way, people have been put in their lives to help here and there and each one of the top four classmates have someone like that in their lives.

Shepherd said his brother Brandon has been one of the most influential people in his life, while Claywell said his sister is his biggest supporter.

"He has motivated me to keep my grades up," Shepherd said.

Both Claywell's and Shepherd's siblings also know what it's like being in the top of their class, having both been valedictorians in their graduating classes.

"She was always there when I needed her and she always pushed me to keep my grades up," Claywell said of his sister. "She taught me the importance of being in the top of the class and having good grades."

Wright's influence has been Band Director Doug Sell.

"I've been in band for so long and he teaches us life lessons," Wright said.

Albertson said she owes her influence to her grandmother.

"She recently passed away and it made me realize how much influence she had in my life," Albertson said.

All four students had advice to offer for the incoming freshmen who will start their high school careers next fall.

All four said to pay attention in class, do your homework and study.

"If you don't pay attention in class you can get behind and it's really hard to learn what's going on if you don't," Claywell said. "It's not going to be the end of the world if you don't get a perfect score on every assignment. Just keep up with what you do and don't get too far behind and you will be alright."

Albertson said not to get involved with the drama that comes with high school.

"The four years will fly by ... they sure have for us," Albertson said.

Wright's advice to incoming freshmen is "don't be scared."

"Don't be scared of high school," Wright said. "It might be scary at first because you don't know where all your classmates are and all the upperclassmen are pushing you around, but you just have to be yourself and make your own way."

Shepherd thinks he will miss hanging out with friends most of all. As people from the Class of 2015 graduate and go their separate ways, friendships will change and that's one thing he says he will miss.

Claywell said there is nothing like stepping out on the basketball floor at Lindle Castle Gymnasium and that's what he will miss the most.

Being in the band for the past four years, Albertson said she will miss it the most. She doesn't plan on playing in college, but she will definitely miss her time she spent playing in high school.

Shepherd is the son of Sherri

Shepherd and Steve Shepherd. Albertson is the daughter of Joey and Sabra Albertson. Wright is the daughter of Sandra Wright and Todd Wright. Claywell is the son of David and Debbie Claywell.

Snow White is the annual children's play at Good Neighbors Theatre

Good Neighbors Theatre presents a play full of children playing the dwarfs, teens in lead roles, and good family entertainment that is sure to please all ages of children and adults alike.

GNT brings Snow White to Byrdstown as the final show in the 2014-2015 Season. GNT is located at 8780 Highway 111 Byrdstown, TN.

Dates of the production are: Friday, May 29; Saturday, May 30; Friday, June 5; and Saturday, June 6 – all at 7 pm. Sunday matinees will be Sunday, May 31 and Sunday, June 7 at 2 pm.

Everyone is familiar with this story based on one of the "happily ever after" Grimms' fairy tales loved by children all over the world. The origin of this tale is debated; it is likely no older than the Middle Ages.

The German born, Brothers Grimm published the story in 1812 in the first edition of their collection Grimms' Fairy Tales and numbered as Tale 53. The Grimms completed their final revision of the story in 1854.

The seven dwarfs were first given individual names in the Broadway play Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs (1912) and then given different names in Walt Disney's 1937 film Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. These are the names now recognized in trivia games etc.

The story has actually evolved over time as it has been told and retold, written and rewritten—even by the Brothers Grimm. The Grimms never even set out to entertain kids. The first edition of "Grimm's Fairy Tales" was scholarly in tone, with many footnotes and no illustrations.

The brothers, Jacob and Wilhelm, originally filled their book, which became known as "Grimm's Fairy Tales," with gruesome scenes that wouldn't be out of place in an R-rated movie. Only later, as children became their main audience, did they take out the more adult content. And that is the version that will be playing at Good Neighbors Theatre.

Ticket Prices are $12.00/Adult and $8.00/Child between three and 12 years of age. Lap babies two and under are free. Ticket may be made purchased in advance at the Byrdstown-Pickett County Chamber of Commerce. All pre-reserved tickets must be paid for at the time the reservation is made. Stop by the Chamber located at 1005 Highway 111. The chamber's phone is 931-864-7195.

Tickets may also be purchased at Good Neighbors Theatre ticket booth on the night of the performances. Messages may be left at 931-864-4569.

Snow White is a dramatization by J. Michael Straczynski; Baker's Plays, a division of Samuel French, Inc.

Good Neighbors Theatre is an equal opportunity provider and employer.

Fiscal court holds call meeting Tuesday morning

Clinton County Fiscal Court held another early morning call meeting Tuesday morning, May 26 with five of six members present. The first item of business was a bill that had been left off of the claims and bills at last week's regular meeting, a payment of $8,279.00 to Logan's Heating and Cooling for a unit replacement in the County Clerk's office.

There was some questions on the bill, as Magistrate Ricky Craig questioned the bid process, saying he was unaware that proposals for the work had been taken. Magistrate Mickey Riddle also asked about a component in the bid, a line set, which was not included in the bid.

Craig said he felt that since the proposals were close, a local company, two of which apparently made proposals, should have been given consideration since they pay local occupational taxes and the proposals were not that much different in price.

A motion to pay the Logan Heating and Cooling bill was made by Magistrate Johnny Russell and passed by a 3-2 vote with Magistrates Terry Buster and Hershell Key voting yes and Magistrates Craig and Riddle voting no. Magistrate Patty Guinn was absent for the meeting.

The court then dealt with making fifty percent payment toward the pool heating unit at the Wellness Center to Sun Pools of $92,790 for the Lochinvar boiler system. The motion to pay that was made by Magistrate Russell and passed 4-1 with Craig voting no.

Following the vote, an exchange ensued between Magistrate Riddle and some of the Wellness Center board members in attendance.

Riddle alleged that Haddix Gas and Electric, who had supplied propane for the Wellness Center before the new system was installed a few months ago, never received full payment and had to settle for less than what was agreed to be paid, inferring it was the Wellness Center's board responsibility to pay the debt.

Roger Barber, a representative with the Wellness Center, said that a local couple had offered to pay off the propane bill earlier but Haddix had rejected the offer and compounded the interest owed on the debt. He further noted it was the contractors who did the work on the facility that had billed the county, not the Wellness Center board.

At one point Riddle said he wasn't against the Wellness Center and noted its importance, but said he was not for giving money toward the facility and was against the way the board had done business.

Wellness Center board member Jesse Stockton then noted that the latest work, now being done on the pool heating system, was a loan that is being paid back.

Judge/Executive Richard Armstrong also said he had talked to (Weldon) Haddix himself and he hadn't indicated to him that he (Haddix) was upset about the final pay-off agreement reached on the propane bill.

The judge then announced that the county has received a $135,000 recycling grant, in the form of a 75/25 match with the county's share to be the building and labor. (More details on the grant will be published in a separate article next week.)

Finally, the court approved five fund transfers prior to adjourning the special meeting, with its regular meeting being scheduled for June 18 at 5 p.m.

County

shell Key and Terry Buster voted in favor while Magistrates Craig, Mickey Riddle and Patty Guinn voted no, prompting Judge Armstrong to break the tie with a yes vote.

It was later noted that the claims and bills included the annual allotment from the county for the recreational park.

The court then unanimously voted to re-new the contract with County Treasurer Dallas Sidwell for another four-year term, effective July 1, at a salary of $39,830, the same as it has been the past eight years. He was administered the oath of office by Judge Armstrong following the court's approval.

The next issue taken up by the court, first reading of the upcoming fiscal year budget, also resulted in a complete 50/50 split among magistrates with the judge/executive again having to break the tie.

Some magistrates immediately questioned, and were opposed to, some of the apparent pay raises for some employees and departments included in the 2015-16 budget.

Magistrate Buster also noted he would like to see emergency services employees get raises, noting the important of the EMS and ambulance service to the county.

Judge Armstrong said that if revenues from the Occupational License Fee holds up, the county could be able to give all county employees cost-of-living increases across the board.

Magistrate Craig apparently took issue with some individual pay hikes, including the road foreman's proposed salary compared to the past year and others, saying you couldn't give some people $6,000 raises, or raises to administrative assistants without giving everyone an increase.

County Treasurer Sidwell told the court this budget was "just a plan" and could be changed or amended throughout the fiscal year.

The total budget is proposed at $4,768,214.96. By law, a budget has to be approved by the Department of Local Government and in place by June 30.

Following some further discussion, a motion was made by Magistrate Buster, seconded by Magistrate Key, resulted in a 3-3 tie with Magistrate Russell also voting in favor of first reading and Magistrates Craig, Guinn and Riddle voting no. Again, Judge Armstrong broke the tie with a yes vote.

Second and final reading of the budget is expected to be held next month.

Follow the budget vote, the court voted unanimously to approve a standing order to allow certain bills which have to be paid by certain dates, to be paid prior to fiscal court approval, such as postage, payment on grant projects, and so forth.

After voting 6-0 to advertise for road materials, the court also approved the low bid on road salt.

Judge Armstrong noted the county could get as much as 300 tons of salt for the next winter season, if necessary and the cost was a little bit cheaper than the past year. The salt is obtained from the company on an as-needed basis and it was noted around 80 tons of salt is left over from last year.

The court also approved the annual County Road Aid Cooperative agreement and related resolution for funding from the Department of Transportation and an inter-local agreement with the Workforce Investment Agency.

Judge Armstrong told the court he had been approached by some residents on Smith Creek Drive, who has a special needs child, about possibly putting up speed bumps on the road to cut down on speeding traffic in that area.

County Attorney Michael Rains confirmed to the court that the state did not allow the county to put in speed bumps on a county road, thus the court discussed some other options, such as putting up signs, reducing the speed limit on the road and other options.

County Road Foreman Michael Craig suggested adding rumble strips may be an option, which Rains felt would likely be legal. The county attorney will research options and report back to the court on which steps to take.

The court then voted, on two separate votes, to hire three additional persons on the road department as replacements for those who had either quit or resigned. The first motion was to hire Shorty Myers and Willie Ferrill. The second motion was to hire Johnny A. Jones, all at a starting rate of $8.50 per hour for the first 60-day trial period, and an increase thereafter. Both motions passed by unanimous vote.

The final item of business on the agenda was the proposed transient fee, or the way it was listed on the ordinance as a "Tourist and Convention Commission" ordinance, amended from an original type ordinance adopted in 2007.

Administrative Assistant Penny Jo Stearns, who has been working on putting together information for such an ordinance and forming a tourism board, addressed the court once again about the issue, reading a list of possible benefits such a transient fee would provide for the county, not only in tourism but possible business and industry as well.

Stearns said a seven-member board had been formed and read a list of names on the board, but noted it couldn't function without revenues received from a transient tax.

The fee would include only lodging establishments such as hotels, motels and cabin rentals and all lodging establishments that rent less than 30-days at a time. It would not include restaurants or any other eating establishments. The fee would be three percent of each dollar, i.e., $3 per $100 in lodging costs.

There was little discussion on the issue before Magistrate Key made a motion to approve the "Tourist and Convention Commission" ordinance on first reading. However, the motion did not receive a second and died due to a lack thereof.

It isn't known as this time if the issue will be brought back up or what the status of the board that has been chosen will be.

The court held another special call meeting Tuesday morning of this week and information on that meeting can be found elsewhere in this week's edition.

The next regular meeting of Clinton Fiscal Court is scheduled for June 18 at 5 p.m. at the courthouse and is open to the general public.

Two weeks of American Pharoah was more than enough for Calipari

American Pharoah's hold on media headlines had gone on long enough. Having put asunder Kentucky Derby and Preakness contenders and now within mile-and-a-half of being first triple crown winner since 1978 (Affirmed), Pharoah was forced out as media darling last week when University of Kentucky issued a news release.

Perfect, I thought, for a little pop quiz. Did the release say ...

A. Record number of graduates will do advanced studies at Oxford and Cambridge Universities.

B. Anonymous donor writes into his will $100 million for cancer research.

C. UK is now a Top 20 rated university.

D. University sets new record for players sent to the NBA.

E. Ball coach is secured through 2022.

If you marked anything not E, then you must write Christian Laettner a thank you note.

Pharoah be danged! Two weeks of headlines without Kentucky's coach's name was too much.

So, John Calipari made it last week. Twice.

✓ First, a flirtation with the New Orleans Pelicans, real or rumor, hastened UK to announce a new $54 million grip on its golden calf.

✓ Thus empowered and ego massaged, Calipari turned feisty.

• Dangerously, he forgot the consequences – “every time you open your mouth to talk, your mind walks out and parades up and down the words.” (Mark Twain)

• He rejected also, “It is best to engage one's brain, before popping the clutch, one's mouth.”

“Last year we started the season with a goal,” Calipari told Jeff Eisenberg (The Dagger). “You may think it was to win a national title or win all the games, (but) it was to get eight players drafted.”

“Uhh, say what?”

Big Blue Nation must have done a collective gulp. Is this the fellow who said, “At Kentucky we ARE basketball!”? ... And last spring, said he would as soon skip the SEC Tournament. “At Kentucky, we play for national championships.”

Calipari new spin? “... how can you be about your team if you're worried about getting players drafted? We kind of work it the other way. What are your dreams? What are you looking for? What are you trying to get out of life? How can we help you with that?”

Awfully humanitarian, isn't it? But let's be real, the man's dream machine applies only if one is 18 years-old, 6-feet-5 or taller and can ball.

“... the mission for me,” he said, “is to be a vehicle to help others reach their dreams, to be the stone that creates the ripple in their lives that goes on and on and on.”

A stone ... a vehicle to the stars. Such prose when John Calipari is in character as Johnny Appleseed.

Good place to stop, right? Wrong.

“Now in our state, they want my mission to be, win national titles,” he said. “(But) my mission is bigger than that.”

Getting in line for a Nobel Prize? A visit from Pope Francis? Or maybe suffering a Jesus Complex.

Whatever, Calipari's latest spasm of arrogance does these things.

✓ Big Blue Nation have it on paper, NCAA titles are farther down their coach's priority list than they thought.

A ball coach in-your-face tweet: “I hate to drive you (UK) traditionalists crazy, but I'll say it again: our goal at the beginning of the season was to have eight players drafted.”

✓ Brazen boasts demonstrate anew how solidly he has hijacked a college basketball program and chained it to the NBA.

✓ Finally, his rant takes attention away from elephant in the room – Kentucky's stunning loss to Wisconsin and oh-for-spring recruiting, has the heat of blame squarely on the coach and it's making him testy.

Epilogue. Gone from UK's basketball world is anything to compare to a Frank Kaminsky message to University of Wisconsin: “...thank you for having me. You have no idea how much you have changed my life. ... I was born and raised in Illinois, but I am proud to say that Wisconsin has turned me into the man I am today.”

CHEERS & JEERS

CHEERS. For fans, Eastern Kentucky and Western Kentucky men's teams will play basketball the next four years. Having played 155 times 1927-1982, think of all the money each school did not make from the series in 33 seasons. Kudos to directors of athletics Steve Lochmuller and Todd Stewart. Now, about a football series.

CHEERS. Damien Harris, five-star freshman at Alabama and all-stater at Madison Southern, is being projected as number two RB on Crimson Tide depth chart.

CHEERS. Among rule change recommendations, reducing timeouts and taking away coach called time-outs to interrupt play late in second half.

CHEERS. Kentucky's non-SEC basketball schedule. Teams worthy of college basketball's gold standard.

CHEERS. Duke-Kentucky, November 17, national television. Pinnacle game for college hoops. Wildcats lead series 11-9 overall, Blue Devils have won last three.

CHEERS. Ex-Florida assistant coach John Pelphrey is looking for work. Meanwhile, Billy Donovan made sure the Paintsville native was paid through end of his contract. Pelphrey's last payment was a pro-rated $32,500 on his $390,000 annual contract, according to GatorSports.com.

WORTH REPEATING DEPT.

On player development and not, ESPN's Mahatma Jay Bilas said: “college coaches (like) Calipari or Mike Krzyzewski of Duke or Roy Williams of North Carolina should take limited credit. That's especially true of players who play only one season of college basketball. They had the guy seven months. What did they do to develop them? That's so meaningless. That's more about talent than anything.”

And so it goes.

Time to salute the grads - especially our senior athletes

Temperatures are noticeably warming and the sunlight hours are longer with each coming day, which could only mean that summer has arrived.

With that, of course, is the end of yet another school year and this week we will bid farewell, congratulations and best of luck to some 100 give or take a few, graduates of the Clinton County High School Class of 2015.

Of course we offer our congratulations to all of the 2015 graduates, parents and family, but this being a sports-oriented column, I always give up a little bit of a special congratulations geared to our seniors who were involved in the athletic programs at Clinton County High School.

So, to those of you who have spent time going the extra mile during your high school years - be it on the hardwood basketball or volleyball court, the football field, one of the diamonds or tennis courts, the golf course, soccer fields, archery range or the cross country track - a special congrats goes out to you from the Clinton County News Sports.

You did in fact go the extra mile to put in the team and personal practice and training, conditioning time and matches and games, all at the same time you were working to keep your grades and school work in order so you could continue being a part of the team or squad and represent your school, family and community while wearing the Blue and White.

You all did us proud on every level.

The lessons you learned while working and playing on the respective team or squad are ones that you will find yourself returning to and using throughout your adult lives.

Before you take that walk later this week, accept your diploma and flip your tassels to transform from student to alumni, take a few minutes to not only reflect, but also to give a special thank you to whomever it was that was responsible for seeing that you were always on time to practice, had a ride home from the games and were sure that you put in that extra time to study for that test.

Someone followed you to every game from the little league level through the varsity travels, taking time out of their own schedules to make sure they saw every shot, swing and step you made.

Be it Mom, Dad, a guardian or whomever, someone was there to give you that extra little push when you needed it, and those words of encouragement when you might have been just a little down.

Give them a hug and a special thank you, believe me, it wasn't as easy as it might have seemed to be - in a few years, it will likely be you following your own little athlete all over the place and then you will realize just how difficult it can be at times.

Still - for whomever it was that was your biggest fan at home - it was times they wouldn't trade for any other experience in the world - again, speaking from experience here.

Enjoy your week and reflect on your accomplishments and ponder your future, but know now and forever, that the time you spent in the Bulldog uniform has been appreciated by many of us on the sidelines throughout your high school athletic careers.

Finally - now that you are an alumni member, don't be a stranger. Come back out to the gym, the diamond or the field, and support those athletes who are coming behind you. You remember hearing those cheers from the sidelines and the stands? Now it's your turn to make some noise from time to time.

Again, congratulations - to both our graduating athletes and to your entire family. Be proud of your accomplishments and always remember ...

Once a Bulldog, always a Bulldog!

Keeping kids active

Anyone who's seen kids on a playground knows that most are naturally physically active and love to move around. But what might not be apparent is that climbing to the top of a slide or swinging from the monkey bars can help lead kids to a lifetime of being active. As they get older, it can be a challenge for kids to get enough daily activity.

Benefits of Being Active

When kids are active, their bodies can do the things they want and need them to do. Why? Because regular exercise provides these benefits:

1. strong muscles and bones
2. weight control
3. decreased risk of developing type 2 diabetes
4. better sleep
5. a better outlook on life

Healthy, physically active kids also are more likely to be academically motivated, alert, and successful.

What Motivates Kids?

So there's a lot to gain from regular physical activity, but how do you encourage kids to do it? The three keys are:

1. Choosing the right activities for a child's age: If you don't, the child may be bored or frustrated.
2. Giving kids plenty of opportunity to be active: Kids need parents to make activity easy by providing equipment and taking them to playgrounds and other active spots.
3. Keeping the focus on fun: Kids won't do something they don't enjoy.

When kids enjoy an activity, they want to do more of it. Practicing a skill whether it's swimming or riding a tricycle improves their abilities and helps them feel accomplished, especially when the effort is noticed and praised. These good feelings often make kids want to continue the activity and even try others.

South Kentucky RECC Annual Meeting will feature country music star Rodney Atkins

It will be country music superstar Rodney Atkins taking center stage at the 77th Annual Meeting of South Kentucky RECC to be held Thursday, June 4th at the co-op farm on West Hwy. 80 in Pulaski County. Atkins has had many hit songs, including six #1 songs, like "If You're Going Through Hell", "Watching You", "These Are My People", "Cleaning This Gun (Come On In Boy)", "Take a Back Road", and "It's America", as well as a host of other top charting hits.

The event will include a host of informative and educational exhibits for South Kentucky RECC members to visit, including health booths, civic organizations, local industry and businesses; and many others. For the children's entertainment, there will be free rides, temporary tattoos, and prizes. This year's opening act will be gospel group Midnight Cry, featuring local singer Jim Rogers.

In addition, appearing for a special performance of his original "Coal Keeps the Lights On" will be America's Got Talent contestant Jimmy Rose from Pineville, Kentucky.

Registration for members will begin at 4 p.m.

The primary purpose for the Annual Meeting is the business meeting, which starts around 7 p.m. The cooperative's bylaws provide that each year there shall be an Annual Membership Meeting for reports from SKRECC officers and leadership.

South KY RECC will also recognize the Washington Rural Electric Youth Tour recipients and the eight, $1,000 senior scholarship winners.

There will be prizes for adults and children, including a Ford F-150 Pickup truck.

For more information about the 77th SKRECC Annual meeting, call 606-451-4137. All South Kentucky RECC offices will be closed that day.

Country Music star Rodney Atkins will be one of the entertainers on hand this June 4 for the South Kentucky RECC Annual Meeting.

Corps offers tours of Dale Hollow Lake Power Plant

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Nashville District is offering the public free guided tours of the Dale Hollow Power Plant in Celina, Tenn. Not all portions of the dam will be accessible to the public due to safety concerns.

Approximately 45 minutes in length, tours are scheduled 10 a.m. June 13, 2015.

Tour size is limited and is on a first-come, first-served basis. All guests including minors are required to submit a request form at least five days prior to the tour and receive confirmation from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Nashville District.

Registered tour participants will be required to check in at the Dale Hollow Power Plant reception area approximately 15 minutes prior to the designated tour time where they will receive a brief introduction prior to beginning the tour.

In addition to the guided power plant and lock tours, Corps Park Rangers will be available from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Resource Manager's Office to answer questions and conduct a brief presentation on the many benefits that Dale Hollow Lake provides. Registration is not required for access to the Resource Manager's Office.

To request a tour registration form and to learn more about the tours rules and details, please call the Dale Hollow Lake Resource Manager's Office at (931) 243-3136, or visit the Dale Hollow Lake website at scam. The IRS will never:

Scams

- * Call to demand immediate payment, nor will we call about taxes owed without first having mailed you a bill.
- * Demand that you pay taxes without giving you the opportunity to question or appeal the amount they say you owe.
- * Require you to use a specific payment method for your taxes, such as a pre-paid debit card.
- * Ask for credit or debit card numbers over the phone.
- * Threaten to bring in local police or other law enforcement groups to have you arrested for not paying.

If you get a phone call from someone claiming to be from the IRS and asking for money, here's what you should do:

If you know you owe taxes or think you might owe, call the IRS at 1-800-829-1040. The IRS workers can help you with a payment issue.

If you know you don't owe taxes or have no reason to believe that you do, report the incident to the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration (TIGTA) at 1-800-366-4484 or at www.tigta.gov.

You can file a complaint using the FTC Complaint Assistant; choose "Other" and then "Imposter Scams." If the complaint involves someone impersonating the IRS, include the words "IRS Telephone Scam" in the notes.

Remember, too, the IRS does not use unsolicited email, text messages or any social media to discuss your personal tax issue. For more information on reporting tax scams, to www.irs.gov and type "scam" in the search box.

Additional information about tax scams are available on IRS social media sites, including YouTube and Tumblr where people can search "scam" to find all the scam-related posts.

Another recent local report of a scam phone call reported to the sheriff's department involved someone impersonating a representative of South Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation.

In that case, the caller told the resident they were behind by several hundred dollars on their electric bill.

The sheriff's office confirmed with South Kentucky RECC that the electric company did not make phone calls to tell customers about late fees, but did so by mail only.

In many cases, fake scam artists may sound or speak with a "foreign" accent and calls may actually be coming from far away countries from con artists trying to bilk people out of money or personal information such as bank account numbers, credit or debit card numbers or other personal information which could lead to identity theft.

These prank, scam and annoying calls, many of which go unreported to authorities, also can come any time of day or night and even on weekends.

Officials in the local sheriff's office confirmed on Monday that only a couple of calls a week on average have been reported this year and also confirmed that scams are varied in nature, the most prevalent over the past several weeks have dealt with scammers impersonating the Internal Revenue Service.

The officials urge residents who receive such calls to use common sense measures, by not giving any type personal information--especially financial, such as bank account or credit and debit card numbers, Social Security numbers or any other specific information. Never send money to any person or company unless verifying they are 100 percent legitimate.

Also, try and confirm the call by asking the caller their names, and request a number you can call them back on, their supervisor's name, etc. Any legitimate caller would provide that type of information.

Although most numbers used by scammers are phony and unavailable for call back, making them nearly impossible to trace, persons receiving such calls can still report the incident by calling the sheriff's office at 387-5111.

Trooper Island GMC Truck raffle tickets available at local outlets

In observance of the 50th anniversary of Trooper Island, the Kentucky State Police is featuring a tough, yet stylish 2015 GMC Sierra 1500 Crew Cab SLE pickup in their fundraising raffle this year.

Designed for work or play, the truck includes a Sonoma Red Metallic exterior and Jet Black interior; a four-door, air conditioned crew cab with heated, leather front seats; a 5.3L V8 EcoTec3 engine with 355 horsepower; a six-speed automatic transmission with 4-wheel drive; electric power steering and a five-year/100,000 mile powertrain limited warranty (Visit http://www.kentuckystatepolice.org/2015/tr Isl_truck_raffle.html for a full list of features and equipment).

Tickets are $10 each. For a chance to put this truck to work in your family or business fleet, contact any Kentucky State Trooper, Commercial Vehicle Enforcement Officer or any of the 16 KSP posts located throughout the state.

Tickets for the truck raffle are also available at local outlets in Albany, including at Clinton County News (116 N. Washington Street), People's Bank of Albany (403 N. Cross Street) and City Florist (201 E. Water Street).

Tickets are also available online by debit or credit card payment at trooperisland.org.

Only 20,000 tickets will be sold. The winning ticket will be drawn on August 30th at the Kentucky State Fair. Ticket holders do not have to be present at the drawing to win. Raffle winner is responsible for all tax and license fees.

Trooper Island is a free summer camp for underprivileged boys and girls age 10-12 operated by the Kentucky State Police on Dale Hollow Lake in Clinton County. It is financed entirely by donations, no public funds are used.

Each year, the camp hosts approximately 700 children, providing good food, fresh air, recreation, guidance and structured, esteem-building activities designed to build good citizenship and positive relationships with law enforcement officers.

UK plants hemp research plots

By Katie Pratt

Agronomists with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, Food and Environment began planting their 2015 hemp research plots May 14 on the university's Spindletop Research Farm.

This is the second year for UK to conduct industrial hemp research. 2014 was the first year that hemp was legally grown in the state in decades. UK conducted the 2014 pilot project under the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's guidance.

This year's research projects are funded by several corporations, with administrative support from KDA. Similar to 2014, UK will work in collaboration with scientists from other Kentucky universities. UK agronomists David Williams and Rich Mundell are the lead researchers on the UK projects.

UK researchers will evaluate the yield and fiber quality differences among different harvest times and harvest methods as well as retting times and retting methods. Retting is the process of separating the fiber from the stem. UKAg agronomists will collaborate with researchers at Eastern Kentucky University on this project, which is funded by Sunstrand LLC.

In a second research project, Williams and Mundell will examine the best production method for cannabinoids. Cannabinoids, such as hemp-based cannabidiol, may be used in food and dietary supplements for consumer health and wellness benefits. The pharmaceutical industry is researching them for a variety of therapeutic purposes. CannaVest Corporation funded this project.

Another project, funded by Freedom Feed and Seed, will allow UK researchers to manipulate plant growth rates in the greenhouse and in the field of hemp used for grain and cannabinoid production. They will study specifically whether small plants make the harvest simpler and whether small plants have any yield difference compared to larger plants.

UK researchers will conduct additional projects with Murray State University and Western Kentucky University. In collaboration with Murray State University researchers, UK scientists also will conduct a small variety trial of hemp plants for grain production. UKAg researchers will work with researchers from Western Kentucky University on a project that looks at hemp's tolerance to agricultural herbicides.

Kentucky Hemp Seed Research and Development Company, a subsidiary of Atalo Holdings, donated a significant amount of seed to the 2015 UK hemp research project.

Waters of Kentucky River peak

May 30, 1927

On this day in 1927, the Kentucky River peaks during a massive flood that kills 89 people and leaves thousands homeless. Torrential rains caused this unprecedented flood.

An account from the Mountain Eagle newspaper out of Whitesburg, Kentucky, in Letcher County, provides a detailed look at the disaster:

The flood hit just after 11 o'clock Sunday night, and within a few minutes the whole camp of the Consolidated Fuel Company was under water. The house in which Brent Breeding and his family were living was swept against the railroad trestle and then crushed to pieces. Not a plank of it is to be seen there now. All of the members of the family were saved except a five-year-old girl. The body has not yet been recovered.

Jimmy Higgins, superintendent, says that he heard at 11 o'clock that his sub-station was on fire and started up Smoot Creek to see about it. The rain became so hard that he turned back and climbed the hill to his home overlooking the depot there. A prolonged flash of lightning showed him that the camp already flooded. He rushed back down the hill and began to direct the rescue work. They had to chop into the roofs of some of the houses to get the occupants out, for the water from below had trapped them. Swimmers went in at the risk of their own lives and carried out occupants. One home had thirteen children, all of whom were saved.

This flood had a serious long-term impact on the communities of the region: 12,000 people were left homeless and men were out of work for months as the mines in which most worked had to be shut down. As with most floods, it was the flooding of small streams rather than a major river that caused the most deaths. Major rivers that flood can cause serious property and agricultural damage, but do not usually cause deaths because it takes more time for them to flood, usually providing ample warning to people nearby. Smaller rivers and creeks tend to flood suddenly when inundated by local storm bursts; the sudden waves of water that kill people usually come out of these smaller rivers.

Floods are the deadliest weather phenomenon in the United States, causing about 140 deaths annually.

President Adams settles in new capitol

John Adams, the second president of the United States, becomes the first president to reside in Washington, D.C., when he takes up residence at Union Tavern in Georgetown.

The city of Washington was created to replace Philadelphia as the nation's capital because of its geographical position in the center of the existing new republic. The states of Maryland and Virginia ceded land around the Potomac River to form the District of Columbia, and work began on Washington in 1791. French architect Charles L'Enfant designed the city's radical layout, full of dozens of circles, crisscross avenues, and plentiful parks. In 1792, work began on the neoclassical White House building at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue under the guidance of Irish-American architect James Hoban, whose White House design was influenced by Leinster House in Dublin and by a building sketch in James Gibbs' Book of Architecture. In the next year, Benjamin Latrobe began construction on the other principal government building, the U.S. Capitol.

On June 3, 1800, President Adams moved to a temporary residence in the new capital as construction was completed on the executive mansion. On November 1, the president was welcomed into the White House. The next day, Adams wrote to his wife about their new home: "I pray heaven to bestow the best of blessings on this house, and on all that shall hereafter inhabit it. May none but wise men ever rule under this roof!" Soon after, Abigail Adams arrived at the White House, and on November 17 the U.S. Congress convened for the first time at the U.S. Capitol.

During the War of 1812, both buildings were set on fire in 1814 by British soldiers in retaliation for the burning of government buildings in Canada by U.S. troops. Although a torrential downpour saved the still uncompleted Capitol building, the White House was burned to the ground. The mansion was subsequently rebuilt and enlarged under the direction of James Hoban, who added east and west terraces to the main building along with a semicircular south portico and a colonnaded north portico. Work was completed on the White House in the 1820s and it has remained largely unchanged since.

Cooper, Johnson, Siler win nominations

Former Governor Keen Johnson won his race against John Young Brown of Lexington for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator in returns from yesterday's balloting.

And Republican Senator John Sherman Cooper of Somerset, the incumbent, won his party's renomination handily over Thurman J. Hamlin, of London.

Eugene Siler, incumbent, won the Republican nomination for Congress in the 8th District.

Dr. Donald R. Shepherd, Corbin, appears to be the Democrat nominee for Congress in this district. Vote in Clinton County was very light, as was the case over most of the state.

In Clinton County the vote was as follows: U. S. Senator - Republican: Cooper 706; Hamlin 15. Democrat - Johnson 384; Siler 406; Neikirk 318. Democrat - Shepherd 131; Scalf 57.

Receive Degrees

Two students from Clinton County will be among the 270 graduates who will be awarded degrees by Western Kentucky State College at the spring commencement. Those students are Elizabeth Dickerson and Ann Parrish, B. S. degrees in elementary education.

Edgar Paul Warinner, Jr. of Albany will receive a Bachelor of Arts degree in commencement exercises at Morehead State College on June 2.

Four students from Albany will receive degrees from Lindsey Wilson College in Columbia. Those students are Miss Doris Nell (Dott) Luttrell; Shirley Sawyers; Phillip R. McFarland, and Maxine Pittman.

Lions Club elect officers

The Albany Lions club elected new officers Friday night. The new president is Frederick Smith.

Other newly elected officers are: 1st Vice President, Jimmy Hicks; 2nd Vice President N. L. Morgan; 3rd Vice President, Jimmy Dyer; Secretary, Donald Dyer; Tail Twister, Perry Cross; Treasurer, Bill Vitatoe; Lion Tamer, Glenn Craft.

Joe Talbott and B. E. Eads were elected as new members of the board of directors.

Visitors at the Lions meeting were four members of the Burkesville Lions club, Ernie Lawson, Randolph Smith, J. C. Smith, and Lyle Radford. These men were sprouting long beards and explained to the club the reason - the Cumberland County SesquiCentennial to be held in August. Burkesville is planning a gala event to celebrate its 150th anniversary.

F.H.A. News

Saturday, May 7, 1960, 12 girls, two advisors and one visitor went to Campbellsville to a FHA District Meeting. Those who went were: Rachel Upchurch, Nannie Grider, Libby Bray, Mitzi McWhorter, Rebecca Luttrell, Ginny Ponser, Phyllis Long, Janice Riddle, Janette Britt, Marna McWhorter, Chestlene Ryan, Joyce Huddleston, Mrs. Mary Denton Pierce, Mrs. Mary Ellen Summers, and Noxie Long.

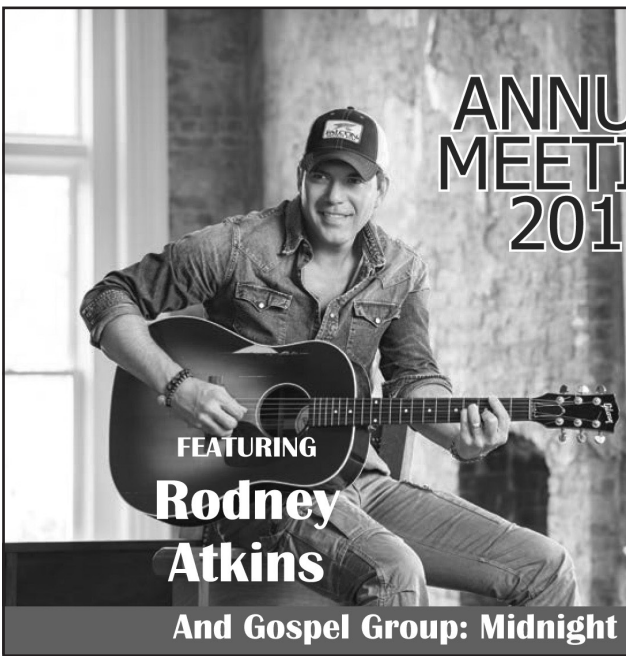

There were 17 different chapters represented. Each district officer gave a report on what they had done. There was talent and skits from each Chapter. Ginny Ponser, our local president and the retiring district second-vice president, recognized those who had gotten off their degrees. Rebecca Luttrell and Rachel Upchurch were candidates for district officers from our chapter Rebecca was elected Historian. Ginny Ponser is a candidate for state officer. We are very proud of her and hope she will get it.

There was a real nice installation service. The meeting was then adjourned.

We also had a father and son banquet for the FFA boys, Tuesday night, May 10. There were six FHA girls served. They were Diane Smith, Sandra Thrasher, Libby Bray, Janette Britt, Rebecca Luttrell, and Edlene Riddle. Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Summers decorated the Home Ec. Room, prepared the meal, helped serve and did everything that had to be done in fixing for the banquet.

The sons and fathers were served and they then had a meeting. We hope everyone had a nice time.

In Memory of Ida Mae Farmer

In memory of Ida Mae Farmer on her birthday.

May 28, 1923 -- August 23, 2009. Love and miss you.

Ida Mae, You taught me lots of things to help me make it on my own. But you didn't tell me how not to miss you when God took you and left me all alone. Love and miss you everyday.

Your husband, Jay Farmer

In Memory of Murl Conner

In Memory of Murl Conner on his birthday, June 2, 1919

I miss you when the morning starts in dawnsings hazy lights. I wish and wish that you were here to share the still daylight.

And then as daylight's brilliant sun intensifies the glow of colored flowers everywhere, I miss you, I miss you so.

And when the shadow lengthens out, the sun descends from light, the heavens hold a moon and stars, I miss you day and night.

I miss you darling all the time, spring, summer, winter, fall--but oh! When things go wrong sometimes I miss you most of all.

Love you much,
Pauline
